McElroy Architecture creates fresh, inspiring and comfortable spaces for modern living. This young office takes on the challenge of a blank slate or existing building to mix old with new using sustainable and quality materials. Spaces are tailored through collaboration with homeowners. From a small bathroom addition to an entire house that needs new life, each project is given thoughtful attention for successful process and results.

Living spaces were placed on the top floor of this remodel to capture views and take advantage of the unique spatial geometry. A low, cramped shed dormer was removed to create a roof deck with doors and windows facing the city.
